WASHINGTON, March 7.—Congress was poised today to throw all its support behind a business expansion drive but requested clarification of the program by President Roosevelt.

What could be a congressional juggernaut to expedite legislation for recovery was held in check by confusion over what constitutes the president's business stimulation program.

As administration leaders declared the president has a "definite policy" to bring about business and industrial expansion, a somewhat skeptical bi-partisan bloc asked whether it includes sharp reduction of government expenditures, additional tax incentives, and assurance of abandonment of punitive legislation.

Hope For Clarification
Leaders of the bloc hope the president will "clarify the situation" in the immediate future as they expressed a willingness to "cooperate in every way." They warned that "if the president does not go deep enough," they may take the situation in their own hands.

If it is revealed the president's business stimulation program consists only of his assertion there will be no additional major legislation introduced this session, his desire to see congress adjourn by June 15, and labor peace, it is more than likely the bloc will press for enactment of its own program.

"It is time that the president stops talking and takes some definite action," is the way one member of the bloc put it.
The coalition of economy-minded senators in both parties adopted a we-want-to-be-shown attitude with reference to the president's policies as they pointed to what was termed

Recognition Of Franco
By United States Near

Copyright, 1939, by International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The United States today took steps for formal recognition of the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco as the constituted government of Spain.

The movement was given impetus by the disappearance of the Loyalist Spanish government. The military coup which Sunday seized the reins of authority from Premier Negrin left the United States without diplomatic relations with Spain for the first time since 1898.

May Be Matter Of Hours
State Department officials said that the recognition which has been extended the Loyalist government throughout the Spanish civil war did not transfer automatically to the military junta which seized power from Negrin. There appeared scant likelihood that the junta would be recognized and the American government today sought in vain to contact heads of the former Loyalist government which they admitted appeared now to be non-existent.

It was admitted privately that formal recognition of the Franco regime is now a matter of hours. U. S. Ambassador Claude G. Bowers is en route to Washington aboard the Queen Mary and is expected to arrive in the capital Friday. He is not expected to be sent back to Spain.

RAJKOT, India, March 7.—Dizzy and nauseated after more than four days without food, Mohandas K. Gandhi broke his "fast unto death" today by sipping a glass of orange juice — victor in his battle to win democracy for the small state of Rajkot.

The ascetic, 90-pound leader of 100,000,000 Indians took his first nourishment since Friday noon upon an announcement that his dispute with Thakore Saheb, ruler of Rajkot, had been settled.

It was announced the settlement was reached on the basis of an agreement that Thakore Saheb will implement the promises he previously made to Gandhi regarding a constitution and an advisory council for the state he rules.

In other words, Gandhi by refraining from food won a complete triumph in his fight to increase the part played by residents of the state in determining their own governmental measures.

(International News Service)

MADRID, March 7.—A "desperate coup d'etat" was attempted by disgruntled Madrid Communists today in an effort to overthrow the "peace junta" of General Jose Miaja and reopen hostilities with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's nationalist forces.

The attempted uprising was announced by General Segismundo Casado, Madrid "strong man" who dislodged the government of Premier Juan Negrin and installed the military junta in the hope of thus achieving a "worthy peace" and bring an end to the Spanish civil war that has lasted almost three years.

"Since dawn," Casado declared, "Madrid Communists have been carrying on a desperate coup d'etat." "I appeal to all soldiers who have been tricked by Communist leaders into holding out again, the defense council (junta) to change sides without delay."

"The defense council is the only guarantee against an attempt to establish a terrorist tyranny."

Casado said that complete calm prevailed everywhere in Republican territory save in Madrid, where the Communists apparently confined their uprising to the area occupied by government buildings.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Warning factions in the Democratic party must compromise their differences or a Republican will be elected President in 1940, Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D) of Montana, warned today.

He declared no Democrat can be elected to the White House next year without the support both of President Roosevelt and the so-called "middle-of-the-road" Democrats, who now oppose phases of the New Deal.

Waste Is Evident
Wheeler boasted the New Dealhas enacted legislative reforms which no Republican administration would "dare to repeal". At the same time, he frankly admitted "waste" and "cheap partisan politics" in the administration of these laws aroused just popular complaints. The waste must be eliminated, he added, and the partisan administration curbed.
The senator, who bolted party lines in 1924 to run as the vice presidential nominee on the LaFollette Progressive ticket, was silent on Democratic possibilities for 1940. He denied having any personal ambitions for the White House and declared his only hope was to be re-elected to the Senate next year.

UNITED AGAINST

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The powerful house ways and means committee is ready and anxious to consider proposals for tax revision to speed business, a canvass of members disclosed today.

The membership is united against further boosts in taxation at this time, especially of taxes directly affecting business.

Many members, however, see no chance for tax reduction while the treasury is piling up huge deficits and are skeptical over chances of enacting remedial legislation.

Sentiment Growing
The willingness of Secretary Morgenthau to appear before the committee to discuss taxation—his appearance being tentatively scheduled for April—heightened the rapidly growing sentiment for business relief through taxation.

"There is a well-defined sentiment for tax revision to aid business," said Rep. Dingell (D. of Michigan, committee member. "Members want to eliminate any deterrent to business. I am quite certain that positive, definite consideration will be given this problem this session."

"Personally, I think that we need more than superficial treatment of the matter. We need a general re-study of tax laws and a new, simplified method of taxation. I don't think we can waste another day."

Revision of tax laws, including elimination of the capital stock and excess profits taxes and lowering of individual surtax rates in the highest brackets, has been proposed by Rep. McCormack (D. of Massachusetts).

COUP ATTEMPTED BY COMMUNISTS CAUSES OUTBREAK

Francisco Franco's government flatly rejected international aid in liquidation of the civil war.

Details of the clash were lacking, but news of it reached Burgos on the heels of dispatches stating that Communists in Madrid, violently opposed to Mija's peace maneuvers, had barricaded themselves in two buildings of the former capital.

Francisco's rejection of foreign mediation contained a hint that if the generalissimo considers it necessary, he will march his troops into Madrid without hesitation. Any attempt at open resistance by Communists, it was felt, might be looked upon by Franco as sufficient provocation for an assault upon the city.

In belligerent terms, a Franco spokesman made known the rejection during the course of a broadcast in which the European democracies were told in effect to mind their own business.

Takes Exceptions To Third Parties
In particular, the spokesman took exception to efforts of third parties to impose conditions for Madrid's surrender, including a proposal that Franco refrain from sending his Italian and Moorish troops into Madrid in a triumphal occupation such as was staged in Barcelona.

"Generalissimo Franco," the spokesman said, "needs no pact or no surrender in order to enter Madrid. He does not admit a single condition."

"The great democracies can keep all their humanitarian maneuvers to themselves."

Assistant U. S. Attorney A. J. Zirpoll pointed out that Brest would be taking a flying-pan-into-the-fire leap if his plea is successful, because he immediately would face a series of trials for kidnaping, bank robbery and other serious offenses in a half dozen states.

Brest is pleading that he was not informed of his legal rights when he pleaded guilty to kidnaping DeLoria Lester Santee of Sharon, Pa., and taking her to Youngstown, O., in July, 1936. For that crime he received a life term, and an additional 25-year sentence for a bank robbery in Volant, Pa., committed three months later.

CONVENTION PLANS ANNOUNCED TO B. P. W.

It's a sure sign of spring when the Business and Professional Women feel convention-conscious. Monday evening at the B. P. W. club dinner meeting in the Y. W. C. A. all lent an attentive ear when Miss Eleanor Smith, transportation chairman, announced that the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Federation will take place May 27-29 at Bedford, Pa. These conventions have the drawing power of magnets every year and the B. P. W. members are but susceptible pins in their power.

Other interesting announcements were made at the meeting last night. For instance there is the report of the Cause and Cure for War Conference to be given by the local delegate, Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, of New Wilmington, at a gathering in the Y. W. C. A. # Hitler's Power Is Told By Woman's Club Speaker

Dr. Elizabeth Spann, assistant professor of German at Allegheny college, a native of Germany, gave members of the Woman's Club an intimate picture of Adolf Hitler and explained in a measure, the secret of his tremendous hold on the German people, in an address Monday afternoon at the semi-monthly meeting of the club in the Highland U. P. church.

Dr. Spann's topic was "The appeal of Hitler." Dr. Spann who came to the United States ten years ago, has made frequent visits to Germany and has kept in touch with affairs in her homeland, although she is a citizen of the United States.

Hitler's German followers believe that he is divinely inspired. His fantastic notions make him dangerous to other nations, but only more fascinating to the German people, Dr. Spann says, and when he is speaking he stamps about and gives the impression of one burning with an unconsumed flame, and he makes his hearers on fire with his ideas.

He plays on the emotions of his people, Dr. Spann states, and satisfies their emotional cravings. He continually plays on the tribal instincts of the German people. Little children are taught to sing "Today We Own Germany, tomorrow We shall conquer the world."

Hitler, she stated, has stamped out religion so that he can be regarded as Germany's God, and the official German paper, carries many things disregarding religion. The only way that the German people can show the slightest hint of rebellion against the present order of things is to go to church, and during her most recent visit, she found the churches were crowded. The preachers, however, are not permitted to deliver sermons. They are only allowed to pray.

SIX MILLION SICK IN DAY

CAN you imagine the desolation of an epidemic that had 6,000,000 people sick enough on any one day to be kept from their work?

It would be a very terrible one. Surely there has never been any such epidemic, especially in these days of modern medicine.

Probably not. And yet on any winter day, 6,000,000 persons in the United States are unable to pursue their ordinary occupations because of illness or injury. The recent National Health Survey is authority for this.

It seems less impressive because many causes and diseases are at fault, and because 2,500,000 of these disabled are suffering from a chronic disease. Yet no less than two and a half billion days of incapacitating illness are suffered every year.

Surely that makes it plain that the field for work on the health of the people is broad enough to suggest that our task is only beginning.

BOLSTERING CONFIDENCE

Secretary of Commerce Hopkins, despite all that was said of his WPA stewardship when the cabinet appointment was being considered, is said to have reached the conclusion that uncertainty as to the future of the government's relation to business and industry is what has been holding back investments and preventing the early launching of billions of dollars' worth of capital improvements.

If this official slant is maintained with a degree of sincerity and conviction, economic conditions should soon begin to show a marked trend in the upward direction.

Productive capital is reasonably sure to come from hiding as a result of a genuinely cooperative policy at Washington. Mr. Hopkins has an exceptional opportunity to foster a process of economic rejuvenation that promises to mean much for the future of American workers, business men, financiers and industrialists, for most of the country's current ills may be attributed to what has been, up to now, a signal lack of confidence in what the government proposes to do.

DEATH ENTERS A DECLINE

Although complete reports have not as yet been compiled, the National Safety Council estimates a total of 31,500 deaths from automobile accidents in the United States during 1938. Viewed emotionally, this is an appalling piece of news. Statistically, however, it is cause for rejoicing. Not since 1933 has there been a smaller death list.

If the prediction of the council is accurate, there will have been a reduction of 8,000 from the all-time high of 39,500 recorded in 1937. One of the most encouraging facts is that November, which showed a decline of 17 per cent in the number of deaths from automobile accidents, was the thirteenth consecutive month of improvement.

It is probable that a definite determination of the principal cause of the improvement would be difficult, if not impossible. Many factors have contributed to the growing control over this menace to human life—improvement in highway construction, a growing consciousness of the appalling consequences of reckless driving, compulsory inspection of automobiles in a number of states and stricter and more effective regulation of traffic.

There have been times during the course of the continuing crusade against highway slaughter when its leaders have had reason for despair. In spite of educational efforts, counsel and warnings, punishment of reckless and irresponsible drivers, and efforts along many other lines, the toll of death has grown with each succeeding year.

At last there is this marked turn for the better. It represents a triumph for persistence in a great cause and holds out the hope that eventually, as the crusade continues and its effectiveness grows, there will be even more substantial savings in human life.

SOMETHING GEN. SHERMAN NEVER FORESAW

Britannia may rule the waves, but her vulnerability from the air has been belatedly recognized in the government's decision to provide half the population with bomb-proof shelters in their backyards. It is the first time in history that defenses of this nature have been planned on such a scale. But John Bull's tight little island can no longer rejoice in her "splendid isolation."

And how will the other half live? Steel and concrete huts are not considered necessary for houses possessing basements, but the latter will require strengthening as for a siege. So steel beams and sheetings will be furnished to support the ceilings.

Evidently the British have learned their lesson from those days of panic last September, when thousands of men were set to digging trenches and shelters in the parks. It is now apparent that they would have supplied most inadequate refuge for the teeming millions of the metropolis and other English cities.

There remains the problem of protection for persons caught in the streets by air raids. The program will be expanded by the construction of spacious communal shelters for such emergencies.

When General Sherman delivered his celebrated definition of war he made the further remark, not commonly quoted, that "you can't refine it." Yet he had no conception of the horrors attending present-day warfare.

A prediction that the day would come when helpless civilian populations would be targets for a rain of death-dealing missiles dropped from the skies would have been scorned as preposterous.

The meaning of modern war in all its hideousness is brought home to the peoples of the world by the imperative precautions the British are planning. Battleships and armies, even an abundance of war aircraft of the latest type, are not sufficient safeguards against the messengers of destruction that may wing their way over cities.

There was a time when every Englishman's home was his castle. But today it is found necessary to convert a whole nation into a fortress ringed with steel. There could be no more bitter commentary on our boasted civilization.

Bible Thought For Today

Hints On Etiquette

When you are dining out and soup is served, you may, if you wish, drop oyster crackers into the soup, but large crackers or toast thus served should be eaten separately.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TABLE MANNERS FOR TOT

Here are answers to more questions about baby which you may find helpful.

Q. How much emphasis should we place on table manners with the child from two to five?

A. If we parents observe good table manners, controlling our emotions well in the little child's presence, and have won his co-operation pretty well in most matters, we need not bother much about the young child's table manners. The important thing is for him to learn to eat with enjoyment, and to feed himself as early as possible. If at first he chooses to eat with his bare hands, very well. Wishing to feel big, he will soon choose to employ tools. Then be glad he uses them in his own fashion. Wait for several years before you try to train him to hold fork or spoon conventionally. Praise him heartily for his interest and success at eating daintily.

Ample Support. See that he has ample back and foot support so he does not grow over-weary at the table. Let him get down occasionally when the family meal is prolonged, in case he shows fatigue.

If, however, the child plays with food or drops it deliberately on the floor, remove the food and him from the table and let his meal end there.

Q. How much should one try to help the child, say from two to five, speak more correctly those words and sounds he makes indistinctly or inaccurately?

Don't Annoy Him

A. Never to the point of annoying the child or making him feel self-conscious of his speech. To say a word correctly in a calm manner after a child has said it incorrectly may be very helpful to him, especially if he chooses to repeat your correct utterance. But if he doesn't choose to repeat, do not insist. Read aloud a great deal to him, being careful to enunciate distinctly.

Unfortunately, some parents are tempted to repeat the child's incorrect utterances after him, thinking them cunning. There's no better way to perpetuate these errors. It is exceedingly hazardous if the child's awkward utterances are ever laughed at. Most important is a family atmosphere of sympathy and understanding.

Q. Would you teach a child to read before entering school?

Not Advised

A. No. His eye coordination is too poor to begin reading with safety before the age of six or seven. Read to him in his early years and save his eyes. If at play, with large alphabet blocks, he learns some of the letters before entering school, very well.

Q. When should one begin to say nursery rhymes to the baby?

A. You can't begin too early. He won't object to them, and long before you suppose he is getting anything from them he will be attentive, especially to the rhythmic sounds. Let him hear soft lullabies from the day of his birth, while he is being bathed and dressed.

Let me refer to that wonderful little book by Librarian Clarence W. Sumner, "The Birthright of Babyhood." It tells how to begin to expose the baby to song, rhyme and story. Also to "Let's Play With Fingers," by his wife, Florence Glette Sumner.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THESE "SELF-MADE" MEN

Let a man born of indigent parents—parents that have nothing of this world's goods and seemingly little gray matter in their heads, succeed greatly in life and it has become the habit of Americans to call that man a "self-made man."

Now, there is no such thing as a self-made man. Each man is born with certain capabilities. One may have the gift of painting—a gift that will enable him to paint a wonderful picture. Another may be born with a gift of music—a great composer, a great performer upon a musical instrument, a great conductor of a magnificent orchestra. While still another may be born with a scientific mind—who becomes a great benefactor of the human race because of his discoveries in the world of science. Still another may become a very rich man—a great industrialist, a great manufacturer, a great banker, and still another, like Mussolini—a great leader. It is true that all men were born free, but never has it been true that all men are born equal. They have equal opportunities to develop their birthright, but what happens thereafter shows how unequal are man's endowments, and if a man succeeds, it is not because he made himself, it is because he is just exactly what the Creator made him.

Dropping from the sublime to the ridiculous, a youngster stood gazing intently at his father's visitor, a homely man of large proportions. At length the portly one becoming a bit embarrassed said: "Well, my boy, what are you looking at me for?"

"Why," replied the boy, "Daddy told Mother that you were a self-made man, and I want to see what you look like."

"Quite right," said the gratified guest, "I am a self-made man." "But what do you make yourself like that for?" asked the boy with considerable surprise.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:58. Sun rises tomorrow 6:24.

March 12th Babies

As has been his custom for many years, the Hints and Dints Man will give five dollars to every baby born in Lawrence county on his birthday, March 12th. Proof of birth must be in the News office before April 1st in the form of doctor's certificate or other substantial proof. Twins will get $15. Triplets $20 and we will give plenty to quints born on that day. We hope there will be lots of babies to claim the five dollars. This means only in Lawrence county and not all over the world.

Prof.—Is is perfectly clear now? Frosh.—As clear as mud. Prof.—Well, then, that covers the ground.

It is never too late to give up our prejudices.—Thoreau.

GETTING INSURANCE POLICY

Honest Henry Brown was returning answers based upon family history as the medical examiner went down the long blank furnished by the insurance company.

He gave his mother's death at 43 of tuberculosis. What did his father die of? Of cancer. At what age. A little past 30.

"Bad family record; no use going farther!" the doctor said as he tore up the blank.

Impressed with the great lesson that one shouldn't make the same mistake twice, Henry Brown applied for $10,000 in another company.

"What was your father's age at death?"

"He was 96," Harry testified.

"Yes, I make it a practice to visit the dentist twice a year," said the methodical person. "I like to have him look at my teeth, of course, but my main object is to see what the periodicals were printing a year ago."

Office Grouch: "Few people are as good as the attorney for the defense intimates his client is."

Dear Editor: Whenever I dig a hole, I never can get all the dirt back into it again. What should I do?

Answer: Dig the hole deeper.

America still breeds men of tough fiber. In many instances it takes a bossy wife fifteen years to break one down completely.

"Der fformance's all right, chile, but dis am n place for a lady in a calico wrapah."

It has been figured that the man who earns $1,500 a year pays enough taxes between the ages of 21 and 65 to purchase himself an annuity worth $118 per month for the rest of his life.

The upper part of a person's face quits growing at the age of 15 years, but the lower part grows for years after, says a science note. Sure, look how much more a person uses the lower part of the face than the upper, particularly the women folks.

It is surprising how many people there are in this country who do not possess a sense of humor. Just mention some subject in which they are vitally interested in anything but glowing terms, and they are up in arms immediately. If you don't believe this, just try running a newspaper column for a few days. You can't convince them you didn't do it intentionally, either.

"What was the driest yarn you ever heard?"

"It was about an Irishman and a Scotchman. They went into a tavern to get a drink and the Irishman discovered he had no money."

"My dear Brother," said the preacher, "you must learn to love your neighbor as yourself."

"But my wife don't let me!" the dear brother replied. "My neighbor's a pretty grass widow."

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

Poor girls deprived of advantage, they envy in rich debutantes need no longer despair of brilliant marriages. Most great men, deep down in their hearts, have a yearning for a Cinderella romance and the thrill of seducing the beauties of life through the eyes of a maiden sweet and unsophisticated. That is the psychology back of many marriages of rich and powerful executives to their poor stenographers or to underprivileged girls met in the world outside both their offices and the social sets in which their families flourish. But a study of girls thus favored reveals them to have thoroughly mastered the fine art of good taste.

Reader's Question Answered

Dear Miss Markel—After having registered at a hotel, is it correct to ask the bellboy to take my things to my room and return the key if I have a friend waiting for me to go out? Or must I excuse myself to my friend and go up to my room?

NANCY.

Answer—Tip the bellboy and tell him to take your bag to your room. You may wait until he returns with the key or let him hand it in at the desk, which is the usual procedure anyway.

Tomorrow—It's Never Too Late For Romance

Times are constantly changing in this country. For every leather-lunged orator shouting "yah-yah-yah," we can now supply one to yell "boo-boo-boo" back at him.

Experts say that if 250,000 women held a bridge party in one room and all talked at once, the energy generated would only be enough to light one 40-watt electric bulb. Which just goes to prove how useless talk is.

The French, it is claimed, as a rule eat nothing before midday except a roll. Yeah, but folks ought to see a slug of wine they drink just after arising in the morning.

Folks may look upon Great Britain as a democracy, but British newspapers are forbidden to publish "unfavorable comment" on the coming visit of the king and queen to this country. The British press has been bitter against an alleged whispering campaign in this country that the proposed visit was to cement a semi-military alliance between England and the United States. People in England learn a lot of things by reading American magazines and listening to the radio, which they would otherwise know nothing about. The trouble is that people in this country do not appreciate the tremendous freedom of speech and everything else that they have here.

The charming wife of a French diplomat, who had never thoroughly mastered the English language, was urging an American officer to attend a dinner the invitation to which he had already declined.

"The lady insisted that he must go, but the young officer said that he had 'burned his bridges behind him'."

"That will be all right," she exclaimed. "I'll lend you a pair of my husband's."

Aunt Irma—Albert, aren't you sometimes afraid you'll lose control of the car?

Albert—Constantly, Aunt Irma. I'm three installments behind already.

GEESSE OR GOOSSES

One goose added to another may make two geese, or it may make two geeses. It all depends upon what kind of a goose is meant, says Pearson's London Weekly. If you are speaking of the kind that you roast and serve up, succulently stuffed, it is geese, but if you mean the kind of geese that a tailor uses to shape the shoulders of a coat, these are geeses. People eat geese, but they have never gone in for roast geeses.

If a girl appeared in a courtroom in slacks, would she be termed panting for justice?

Things even up. Dad uses the kids as an excuse to see the circus; then he can't find an excuse to dodge Sunday school if he makes them go.

Because the proprietor of a Pittsburgh drug store ordered 16-year-old high school girls to quit hanging around his store while smoking cigarettes, the girls picked the clerk. Pretty soon a baby's first words are going to be: "Gimme a smoke."

"And what?" she asked "should a little boy say to the lady who has given him a penny for carrying her bundles?"

"I'd hate to tell you," he replied.

"Whar'd yuh gitt dat black eye Ephraim?"

"Et yuh must know. Ah done kissed the bride."

"Isn't dat permissible?"

"Dis happened to be some time aftah de ceremony."

"Pop" inquired little Clarence Lilywhite, "what am a millennium?"

"Sho" replied the parent, "doan you know what a millennium am chile? It's jes' about the same as a centennial only it's got mo' legs."

What's What At A Glance

Visit Of New Pope Recalled
Made Many Friends While Here
Address Before Press Club Timely

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The new Pope is the only Pope I ever had luncheon with. He was not Pope at that time, to be sure. He was plain Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli. He's Pope now, however, not many months since that luncheon we had together, at the National Press Club, in Washington. There were four or five hundred fellow lunchers, but I sat not more than a dozen or fifteen seats away from our guest of honor.

We liked the Cardinal. While this last Papal conclave was impending and in progress he had all of the National Press Club's best wishes—especially the best wishes of those who lunched with him; we wanted a Pope who was personally acquainted with. However, early cables didn't indicate that our candidate's chances were very promising. He was Papal Secretary of State and, during the conclave, he was Cardinal Camerlengo (that is, chamberlain). In other words, his role was important, but he wasn't particularly mentioned for the Papal throne. Five members of the sacred college were conspicuously spoken of in dispatches as probabilities, but Cardinal Pacelli's name was not among them. This greatly fretted the National Press Club. When the ticker brought the first news that he had been elected, after all, a chorus of rejoicing went up from the whole club membership.

New Pope's Personality

Cardinal Pacelli visited this country on a never very clearly explained mission. It was quite widely reported that he came here mainly to put the husher upon Father Coughlin. That story can't be verified. It may be true, nevertheless.

Anyway, he was here, and the Press Club invited him to be its guest speaker.

He accepted and the club was flattered. Naturally all hands were wild to see and hear him. Tickets for that luncheon were at a premium. There was a perfect jam to get them. The club auditorium was overflowing. It took a police escort to get the Cardinal into the building. If it had been foreseen that he'd be the next Pope I'll bet it would have been necessary to call out the militia.

The then Cardinal proved to be very tall, very slender. Though an Italian, he has somewhat the physiognomy of an Irishman—that kind of a glib as the Irish themselves describe it.

He was attired informally ecclesiastically, with a scarlet skullcap over his tonsure.

The Cardinal was extremely friendly and smiling.

He made a speech, too. It was in middling good United States language—a little broken, but highly creditable for anyone but a native.

In short, the new Pope knows something about us.

Against Dictators

His record indicates that he doesn't like Nazis.

The Hitlerites intimated that they preferred a selection they thought they could boss. As they expressed it, they objected to a political Pope. I don't believe that Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli will be a political Pope, but neither do I believe that he'll take any orders from Adolf—or from Mussolini.

Briefly, I think he'll be a POPE—not any tool of Nazi-ism or Fascism.

ON WINTER'S BACKBONE

I'd say it's 'bout the time again. When prophets look for writing men. To say by every sign and token. This winter's backbone has been broken.

Always about this time of year. Such optimistic chaps appear. And always we are promptly snowed up. By storms the omens hadn't showed up.

This bright prediction never varies. Though almost forty Februaries. And early Marches, seers and sages. Have asked for space on inside pages. To prophesy an early spring. When soon the birds would start to sing.

And always has a blizzard trailed them. Somehow, it seemed, the signs had failed them.

Yet when I wake some morning pleasant. To find the old prediction present. And read the line the sage has spoken: "Backbone of winter really broken!" Again I'll joyously receive it. Applaud and struggle to believe it. Although deep in my mind I'm knowing. Tomorrow I shall find it snowing.

TIBETAN CUSTOM

Magnus Hirschfeld, the German authority on sex, took a trip around the world in 1931. At the foothills of the Himalayas, he observed Tibetan women walking to the market, followed by three or four men, sweating under great loads of produce. The men were the husbands of the women and were treated like slaves. The women were usually study female, broad, strong-limbed, confident. She smoked a pipe which she removed from her mouth only to tell her husbands to get a move on. This shows the working of polyandry. In Tibet a woman may marry three or four men at one time.

Everybody got up but one man in the corner when the evangelist asked all who wanted to go to Heaven to stand.

"Do you want to go to Beulahland, my brother?" asked the sky pilot.

"Sure" answered the hopeless minority "but I ain't going with any excursion."

WASHINGTON—Arthur J. Altmeier, social security board chairman, says social security has made only a beginning in this country.

"The great challenge of today is to take up the lag between our capacity to provide security and our ability to protect ourselves and our families against insecurity."

The Cabinet Division

WASHINGTON, March 7. TO say that there is a split in Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet would be to convey a wrong impression. So far as personal loyalty is concerned the members—on the surface at least—are all on the same basis. If there is one among them not personally attached to the President, he is far too discreet to give a hint of the fact.

IN that sense there is no division whatever. Nevertheless, it is entirely accurate to say that within the Cabinet there are two groups between which there is a distinct cleavage. This does not imply that enmity exists among the members, nor that there are either personal or political clashes therein. Also, if there were in the Cabinet any man who openly disagreed with the Roosevelt policies, the Cabinet would be no place for him. Long established custom ordains that when a Cabinet member can no longer "go along" with the President on a main administration policy his resignation is in order. Neither the Roper nor the Cummings resignation was for that reason.

ALL this is true and yet two groups exist. One believes that whatever Mr. Roosevelt says and does is right. Its members accept his words as though divinely inspired. They question neither his great wisdom nor his perfect virtue. They are complete Yes Men, adopting as their own not only his views but his prejudices, carrying on his personal feuds, and having no known convictions not derived from him. In this group are Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Attorney General Murphy, Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of Commerce Hopkins, Secretary of the Navy Swanson.

IN the other group are Secretary of State Hull, Postmaster General Farley, Secretary of War Woodring and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The personal friendship of these men for the President is unimpaired—at least so it is held—but they do not wholly subordinate their intelligence to his. The others do. In the second group are the men who go along with the President but sometimes give him the benefit of their minds. In this group are the ones—and the only ones in his official family—who ever differ with him on a public or political question and tell him so. In this group are those who doubt the soundness of the spending policy and have said so. One of this group not long ago went so far as to tell him that he feared the people had not only lost confidence in the New Deal but were beginning to lose confidence in him.

THIS REMARK has been attributed to Vice-President Garner, who sits in on the Cabinet meetings, but it was actually made by a Cabinet member, whose temerity left the Yes group fairly gasping for breath. To that, plus certain other comments from the group, together with the Garner hammering, is attributed the present Administration "drive" to conciliate business men by means of which, his journalistic spokesmen assert, he can regain "control of the situation." ## Rotary Club Members Take 'Inventory' Monday

A profitable two-and-a-half-hour discussion of ways and means of improving the New Castle Rotary club followed the special evening dinner of the club membership in the ball room of The Castleton last night.

It was a frank but constructive discussion of the club's faults and its weaknesses and its strong points. It was a tonic, too, to everyone, for inventories help clubs as well as businesses.

And in last night's "inventory" not a department—they happened to be committees—was overlooked. From the objective comments every committee chairman received a pack of new ideas about what he might do.

While Dr. C. C. Green, president, opened the discussion and stated the meeting's purpose, the discussion itself was in charge of Attorney Marshall G. Matheny, chairman of the "knockers" committee of the club.

"We want to keep in mind, of course, that things said tonight are not personal—we want a frank discussion of everything that the New Castle Rotary club will become a better club," Chairman Matheny began. Then, he went directly into the self-examination business. He turned first to the program committee and, in succession, gave attention to every committee on the club roster.

The discussion involved every member—and about every member got his say in.

At 9, when adjournment was called, a majority of the membership was still participating in the discussion.

Chairman James W. Moorehead of the music committee led the song service which preceded the business. He introduced the new song, "Dear Old New Castle," written for the Greater New Castle Association, and distributed copies fresh from the printers.

Among last night's guests was DeLace Cole, of Butler, former active member of the club and now an "honorary" member of the organization. The honorary membership was only recently conferred on him.

New Castle Rotarians will be host to the annual conference of District 175 Rotary clubs on May 9, 10 and 11. General Chairman J. Lee McFate spoke briefly about it last night.

Dr. W. L. Beal gave the invocation before dinner.

and has been known to speak out in dissent, nevertheless he is not as conservatively inclined as some of his colleagues and has been an advocate of the vast spending in the soundness of which they never wholly believed. This, however, has not prevented him from incurring the hostility of the palace politicians who resented his refusal to join in the effort to purge Senator Gillett of Iowa. And it has prevented him from retaining the personal closeness to the President which once got him mentioned as the latter's most likely choice as his successor.

THE truth is that between the palace politicians, not members of the Cabinet but constituting what is known as the "inner circle," and the members of the smaller Cabinet group there is real hostility. The Cabinet officers know that from the "inner circle" have come various inspired and disparaging stories about them. They know that a sort of campaign is being carried on against them by those who reflect the more radical individuals around the President. They know these things but are undisturbed because they also know that in a comparatively short time there will be a complete change of political scenery in Washington—and that anyhow the power of these "inner circle" boys has been greatly exaggerated.

OF course, it is not humanly possible for Mr. Roosevelt to feel exactly the same toward the group which never dissents. There have been Presidents who would value the dissenters more highly. This President is not so made. Most of the Yes Yes group are his congenial and confidential intimates; the others are his "very good friends." There is a big difference.

LA SALLE 1240

AND UP, delivered at Detroit, prices subject to change without notice. Transportation, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra.

It's TWICE as good ...and costs HALF as much

AN AMAZING THING has happened to LaSalle during the past seven years. The car has been made at least twice as good—and the price has been reduced more than one half! It is one of the greatest value triumphs the automotive industry has seen. In fact, it is such an amazing thing that the general public has not yet grasped its full significance. This is especially true with regard to price. Many people still believe it takes hundreds of dollars more to buy a LaSalle than it actually does. Don't buy a car without driving LaSalle—and without learning of its unrivaled performance and comfort. Do that—and you'll surely get a LaSalle!

Everything Set For Opening Of Y.W.C.A. Drive

Search For New Members Will Get Underway After Tonight's Dinner

"GREATER Y. W. FOR GREATER N. CASTLE"

A greater and finer Y. W. C. A. for a greater and finer New Castle is the aim of the membership drive, which starts at the membership workers' dinner tonight at 6 o'clock.

In the Y. W. C. A. "membership is not required but much desired" for the use of the building and for Y services and activities. Members join to further the purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association which is: 1, to associate young women in personal loyalty to Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord; 2, to promote growth through physical, mental, social and spiritual training, and 3, to become a social force for the extension of the Kingdom of God. All members participate in the furthering of this purpose through their $1 general membership dues or their $5 or $10 or more substantial memberships.

It is the aim of the Y. W. C. A. to have as many members as possible participate in the fellowship and purpose of the association. Through committee work in their attendance at Bible, singing, gym, handicraft and many other classes and in clubs where they can really know the women and girls of the whole community.

The Y. W. C. A. is striving for a more responsible membership which in turn helps to train a more responsible democracy. That is why a finer Young Women's Christian Association means a finer New Castle community.

Arrange Meetings For County Farmers

Crops And Fertilizer Will Be Discussed At Series Of Meetings In County

A series of five crops and fertilizer meetings has been scheduled for March 9 and 10, to be held in various parts of the county at the request of interested farmers in those communities.

At these meetings the most desirable strains and types of the different grain crops will be considered and discussed. Comparisons of these crops and other crops as grown in the county will also be made. A brief discussion of the fertilizer question will be taken up at these meetings dealing chiefly with the economy of certain types and the necessity of certain analysis of fertilizer for a given condition.

E. J. Walters, agronomy specialist from the Pennsylvania State college, who is well known by most farmers of Lawrence county, will lead the discussion. The meetings will be held in the following locations:

March 9, 10 a. m.—Fire house, New Wilmington.

March 9, 1:30 p. m.—F. C. Edie farm, Washington township.

March 9, 8 p. m.—Mahoning Valley grange hall, Mahoning and Union townships.

March 10, 1:30 p. m.—Elmer Rader farm, Little Beaver township.

March 10, 8 p. m.—East Brook grange hall, Hickory township.

King And Queen To Leave May 6

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 7.—King George and Queen Elizabeth will leave England for their visit to Canada and the United States on May 6 instead of May 8 as previously arranged, it was announced by Buckingham Palace today.

The earlier date of departure is not expected to alter the time of their arrival in Canada. The departure date was moved forward two days because of likelihood that fog will delay the Atlantic crossing.

It is said that 85 per cent of all single family homes in Washington, D. C. have automatic refrigerators.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 7.—To all queries as to whether he approves of the campaign now under way to put him in the limelight as a G. O. P. presidential possibility, Gov. Arthur H. James replies that he has plenty to worry about at his present job without taking on added burdens. "I think if I take care of my present job well, the future will take care of itself," he remarked.

Lowell Thomas, radio commentator, was the most recent to give the governor a presidential boost. Thomas spoke at a truckers association banquet at the capitol. Back of the campaign is said to be Col. Carl F. Estes, Texas publisher and oil magnate, confident of the governor and a self-styled "Jeffersonian Democrat." Col. Estes has taken up residence in Harrisburg for an indefinite period. He has accompanied the governor on his one short vacation since he went into office.

Governor James is giving considerable time to the anthracite problem, next to relief the most difficult perhaps his administration has to face. He has scheduled numerous conferences with all factions involved, old-line operators and independent coal producers, bootleg miners and representatives of the United Mine Workers (C.I.O.) union and the Progressive Miners of America (A. F. of L.).

"What we're trying to do," he explained, "is to see if there can't be more of a unanimity of thought among the old-line operators and the independents." Adding to the governor's difficulties in finding a solution to the ills of the hard coal industry have come disturbing reports of price cutting among hard coal operators.

Another fight over enactment of legislation to regulate the sale of fireworks is expected during the current session of the legislature in the wake of Governor James' expressed belief that some legislation to that effect should be enacted. Although the Earle administration backed fireworks bills during the last special session, a strong lobby was able to defeat it and a bill which passed the house went down to defeat in the senate by two votes. The same lobby will oppose legislation at this session and it remains to be seen whether the James administration can succeed where the Earle administration failed.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Vincent Kuczmarski to Polish White Eagles. Quit claim.
Robert W. Simpson to Peter Mazzanti, Perry township, $1.
Benjamin Frank Harry to Vernon Burgoon, Pulaski township, $1.

If you have never heard a jury charged, particularly a grand jury, the instructions issued are informative, and highly interesting. In charging the grand jury Judge Brahm takes considerable time. He reminds them that the grand jury has been a part of the English law for centuries and that while they are serving they are officers of the court no less than the district attorney or the trial judge.

The right of trial by jury goes back to the fields of Runnymede, when the English barons cornered old King John and gave him his choice of giving them some civil rights or losing his own head. King John compromised by giving the people some civil rights and on June 15, 1215, signed the Magna Carta. One of the rights granted was the right of trial by jury.

The grand jury is not quite as ancient as the ordinary jury but does go back a long way in the English law.

Deputy Attorney-General Orville Brown was a visitor in the court house on Monday. He has been assigned the legal work of the banking and insurance departments in Harrisburg. Work on the Paper Mill project will be started shortly, it was stated Monday by the county commissioners. The project is a flood control project and will include the dredging of the Neshannock creek near the Paper Mill and the rip-rapping of the banks to save constant erosion.

It has been suggested that while the dredge is in the creek bed it could bite out a couple of extras chunks to provide a swimming hole. The city could provide a bath house at a small cost, it is pointed out.

The receipts and disbursements for February have been recapitulated by County Treasurer V. I. Mandich. In the general fund $14,142.08 was received and $26,340.97 disbursed.

The writ of foreign attachment sought by Maurice Pierce the "Ossified Man" against Ray Marsh Brydon, alleging breach of contract was dissolved by Judge W. Walter Brahm. Pierce claimed he was under a year's contract to be exhibited in the show and that this contract had been broken.

DR. DAFOE EXPLAINS INTESTINAL ABNORMALITIES IN INFANTS

In the course of our talks on abnormalities which may occur in the system of a small baby and which may interfere with the proper digestion and elimination of food, we have traced the process of digestion as far as the stomach. We have seen that there are mechanical difficulties with the passage of the food even that far. The intestines, where the food goes next, provide no exception.

The intestine is divided into two parts: the small intestine and the large intestine. The small intestine consists of many coils of bowel which have a rather small caliber. The large intestine, a much shorter bit of bowel, serves to transmit the bowel contents to the exterior of the body. Between the small intestine and the large, there is a dilation of the bowel to which the appendix is attached.

When the stomach and the stomach juices have done all the work they can perform in the digestive process, it passes its contents on to the small intestine. Here again there are juices which complete digestion. It is while the food is passing through the small intestine that it is finally digested and the foods absorbed into the blood stream.

By the time the contents have reached the large intestine, digestion has been completed, and all that is left is the residue from which all the food has been absorbed. Water is also present, but this, too, is absorbed.

We must keep these functions of the bowels in mind as we consider what may happen in the case of a baby born with some malformation anywhere in that somewhat lengthy tract.

Some infants are born with obstructions to the flow of the intestinal contents, due to partial or complete absence of the bowel in part of its length. If this obstruction occurs high up in the small bowel—in the first part of bowel coming from stomach—the baby will vomit a short time after it has eaten. This is a serious matter. As nourishment is absorbed into the blood stream while food is passing through the small bowel, if the obstruction happens to be near the stomach, the poor child has such a short length of bowel for the absorption of this food that it will die of starvation if something isn't done at once to relieve this stopping of food.

If, however, the stoppage occurs low down in the small bowel, or in the large bowel near the rectal outlet, the baby will probably get almost if not all the full benefit from the food it eats. In cases like these an operation isn't such an emergency. In either case, however, the operation is a very serious one, and very few babies survive.

I may say that such cases are rare at least. I haven't seen very many of them in my practice, and I've attended a good many babies. I can't remember right now ever having attended a child with an obstruction high up in the bowel, but there have been quite a few times when I have been able, with a light operation, to relieve a baby who had an obstruction in the bowel near the rectal outlet.

AROUND CITY HALL

Because of requests from Neshannock township property-owners for dirt taken from North Mercer street where a storm sewer is being laid by the city and WPA, Director of Ground and Buildings J. D. Alexander said he would confer with Foreman James Mercer for the purpose of having the request granted. Public Safety Director J. Myron Rice said that some of the dirt is being placed on privately-owned lots. Council believes the city officials have a right to say where the dirt shall be placed.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath informed Public Safety Director J.

Myron Rice, who is in charge of the health bureau, that tin cans are being dumped in the North Mercer street plot, formerly used as a dump. Some time ago the city ordered a cessation of dumping tin cans in the lot. The watchman who formerly was stationed here was transferred to another dump. Rice told His Honor he would have a stop put to emptying tin cans in the dump.

Council on Monday received a petition requesting that sidewalks be laid in Center street. The property owners, 97 percent of whom signed the petition, are willing to pay for the materials, council was informed.

Miss Frances Haydon, Walmo, asked council to reimburse her for $250, cost of a wrecker, she had to have tow her car when it stuck in a hole in Euclid avenue, west of North Mercer street. The city and WPA laid a storm sewer in that section. She asserted no barricades were up last Wednesday. Mayor Charles E. McGrath verified her claim. The request was referred to the legal bureau for an answer to her request.

When solons convened Monday in the municipal building they sent to committee, a petition in which property owners asked that Neshannock boulevard between Boyles and Park avenues, be paved as a city-WPA project.

Charles Shepp who has been serving as a temporary policeman was reappointed for another temporary term of 10 days on Monday. Council must rename temporary officers every 10 days, under existing state law.

City Controller Sidney L. Lockley reported to council having completed a financial audit of the city for the year 1938. The report was presented and filed by council.

Police bureau receipts for last month totalled $398.76, according to Mayor Charles E. McGrath's report to council. Two hundred and two arrests were made. Of this number three were sentenced to workhouse terms for vagrancy. Two were held for court on serious violations of moral laws. Two alleged "tipsy" drivers of motor cars also were held for court action.

Early Adjournment Of Legislative Session Is Planned

House Program Being Arranged

April 3 Set As Last Date For Introduction Of New Bills

MANY MEASURES ALREADY PENDING

By GEORGE I. FISHER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 7.—The house today charted its course toward a goal designed to bring about early adjournment of the 1939 session of the general assembly. A rule has been adopted fixing April 3 as the final date for the introduction of bills except those to raise revenue or appropriate funds.

Each session as the leaders prepare to enter the "home stretch" a resolution is introduced setting a date for the final introduction of bills in the house. On the senate side no such deadline is approved, but usually final adjournment comes a month or so after this date.

Many Bills Presented

Bills legalizing bank nights and permitting certain organizations to operate lotteries were referred to committee in the house today. Two Philadelphia, Democrats Reps. Reuben E. Cohen and Samuel M. Rosenfeld, put in bills to permit bank nights. Cohen's bill would require operators of theatres to pay 15 per cent of the prize money to the state.

Rep. Edward A. Clark, R., Clearfield, introduced a bill allowing schools, colleges, universities, religious organizations, labor unions, volunteer firemen's groups, veterans' organizations and charitable groups to operate lotteries paying up to $1,500 in prizes.

Other bills which were referred to committee in the house today would have the state maintain stations for

Ban Woman For Her Strange Garb

Socialite Is Involuntary Exile From New Jersey Because Of Dress

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 7.—Ellen Tilton Holman, the socialite who once shocked Reno by wearing shorts into court and riding a bicycle barefooted, was an involuntary exile from New Jersey today because the town of her parents about town disapproved of her dress.

The tall blond was escorted to the George Washington bridge last Friday, it was revealed by Police Chief William E. Powell of Rochelle Park, and sternly advised to remain on the other side of the Hudson river. Powell said he took this drastic step after a conference with the police of Harrington Park and Closter.

The young woman's urge for "simplicity of life," as she described it, disturbed the townsfolk in New Jersey, Powell said.

Mrs. Holman had been living in a bungalow in Maywood, N. J., for the past month with a German woman, Antonie Herman, Powell said, but they recently parted after a quarrel. It was when the young matron began tramping about the streets of Hackensack in search of new living quarters while attired in her strange garb that police intervened.

Dempsey Clips Wrestler Curry Following Bout

(International News Service)

DETROIT, March 7.—Former world's heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey today was ordered to appear before Prosecutor Duncan C. McGree to explain his part in a wrestling exhibition McGree described as "the most disgraceful thing I have ever heard of."

Dempsey refereed the match between Curry and Bull Montana, and after awarding the bout to Montana, Dempsey was forced to convince Curry he was the loser.

Curry, a former fighter, squared off with Dempsey and was promptly belted through the ropes. He got back, grabbed Dempsey, and both fell from the ring. The pair fought amid the ringside seats until police and ushers separated them.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all!

Then get from your druggist 21¢ bottle of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Instantly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membrane and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guarol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Chairman Jackson Thinks 35 Top Figure For 1939 Encampments Of CMTC

Lawrence county boys who expect to attend the C.M.T.C. camps this year will have to hurry to get in with their applications. The few remaining possibilities will be filled early.

The Citizens Military Training Camp is an opportunity for any red blooded young American who wants to see something of his nation's points of interest, and at the same time get a short course of military training. The government foots the bill.

Major W. Fulton Jackson is the chairman of the committee receiving applications and today asked that any young men interested get their applications in early.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The India Rubber man didn't have hardening of the arteries.

A bit of rubber in the arteries would be good for any man.

Resiliency in one's arteries is modified largely by heredity.

When they degenerate and harden one has arteriosclerosis.

Functional conditions and personal habits contribute to this state.

Infections, intoxications, overeating and obesity.

Kidney and heart disease and high blood pressure.

These are to be guarded against if health is to be maintained.

Arteriosclerosis may appear when least expected.

A man feels in fit condition and brags about it.

Even so his arteries may be slowing up and hardening.

Moderation in all things will help preserve the arteries.

Man Will Fight Duel With Himself In Movies

By MILTON HARKER
(Copyright 1939, I. N. S.)
HOLLYWOOD, March 7.—All of Hollywood's magic will go into the making of Edward Small's production of "The Man in the Iron Mask," high-lighted when Louis Hayward, as King Louis XIV of France, fights a duel with himself as Philippe, his twin brother.

This will be accomplished by a mask of Hayward made by Perc Westmore, one of the screen's most famous make-up experts. Except for its sinister expression—for King Louis is the bad brother and Philippe the good brother—you can't tell it from Hayward's own face.

Albert Cavens, expert swordsman and a man of Hayward's exact physique, will wear the mask in the duel. Hayward and other members of the cast are being instructed in swordsmanship by Cavens. Other, Fred, who has taught Ramon Novarro, Tyrone Power and many other stars.

Westmore, head of Warner's make-up department, regards the recreation of Hayward's face in a life-like rubber composition as one of his greatest accomplishments in make-believe. By constant practice Cavens has so mastered Hayward's movements and mannerisms that this reporter, who has known the young English star for a year and a half, mistook him for the original.

The dueling scene will be the only one in which Hayward does not appear on the screen as both brothers.

Trick photography will accomplish new miracles on the screen in the scenes with himself. In the past people playing double roles appear on different sides of the screen.

Hayward will walk around himself so that it will be obvious to the audience that both men are the same person. The voices will even overlap. Hayward will talk in a higher pitch as the king.

He'll have two love affairs with beautiful blonde Joan Bennett, who portrays Maria Theresa, the Spanish infanta who becomes King Louis' queen. Joan will hate her husband in this marriage of state but will fall desperately in love with Philippe.

Small's production is similar to the one made in 1929 by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in which he played, Artagnan, the principal character in that version. Warren William is the new D'Artagnan.

The three musketeers will be Alan Hale as Porthos, Bert Roach as Athos and Miles Mander as Aramis. Joseph Schildkraut will be the king's wicked minister.

There will be plenty of action to suit the most avid action-loving theatre-goer.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

On high ground at Golden Gate Park, in San Francisco, her journey's end, rests Amundsen's stout little ship, the Goyja, which made the first voyage through the long-sought-for Northwest Passage. At the San Francisco World's Fair, on the other side of the peninsula, youth will find many a new stimulus to adventure, perhaps forgetting the old Goyja.

But I wonder if our age of highly mechanized exploration can offer any real substitute for the romantic lure of such old ships as the Amundsen's and Nansen's Fram, now in a museum in Oslo—the ship that went farther north than any ship had ever gone before.

The lad with the clandestine night light, reading "Captain Hatteras" at the North Pole, could use these brave little ships nicely in the cast of characters with which he peoples his dream-world. But I wonder if this "boyhood of wonder and hope" will similarly cherish the saga of the great floating laboratories of modern days.

Here is the Soviet ship Syedoff, drifting over the top of the world, caught in the ice, but closer to the pole than even the Fram ever got. The scientists aboard the Syedoff wireless useful information about Arctic air currents. They discover that the Arctic is getting warmer. They make interesting observations about terrestrial magnetism.

As I remember "Captain Hatteras," driving for the pole was a sort of glorified sporting event. There was little pretense that the voyage would yield anything for science. Can we get the same thrill out of these Arctic expeditions "sickened o'er with the pale cast of thought?"

Knobby, weather-beaten Captain Bob Bartlett, who speaks the fascinating and scarcely understandable Scotch-English patois of the Brigus man, is a conspicuous hold-out against de luxe exploration. Without any ungenerous attitude toward his fellow explorers, Captain Bob, now at the Murray Hill hotel, in New York, looks upon de luxe exploring somewhat as an old-time sagebrush cowman looks on the dude ranchers.

In his tough little schooner, Effie Morrissey, the captain has taken a worse buffeting than Siegfried got in the land of the Ice King. He has been shipwrecked twelve times and four times his ships have been crushed. He likes to fight ice with no holds barred, and he seems to think that going north in an air-conditioned ship, full of machinery gadgets, is something like packing a horseshoe in your glove. Like all Brigus, Newfoundland, men, Captain Bob speaks a quaint Elizabethan English which seems to go well with a ship like the Effie Morrissey. "I do love the sea as a dog loves its master who clouts it for the discipline of the house," says Captain Bob.

When he was 17, his father, known all along the Labrador and Newfoundland coast as "Uncle Mose," gave him a schooner, and he sailed forth to hunt for seals. In 1905, he went poleward with Peary, but their ship, the Roosevelt, was caught in the ice. It was not until 1908 that Peary, again with the Roosevelt and Bob Bartlett gained the pole. On the last stretch, with the sled and dog team, it was a Negro named Henson, and not Captain Bob, who shoved on to the pole, with Peary. There was quite an uproar about Captain Bob being left with the ship. "That's all right," he said. "I am a better sailor than Henson, but he is a better dog driver." Rounding sixty, Captain Bob keeps on bucking icebergs. He is the hardest and happiest ice buccaneer alive anywhere in the world. He never will be reconciled to mechanized, ultra-scientific, luxurious and 99-percent-safe exploring.

We had scarcely discovered that the earth was round before we started trying to get to the top of it, and ever since it has been more or less of a sporting event. Henry VIII ordered Hendrik Hudson to find the pole. He and his crew got as far as Spitzbergen Island, and decided that demons lurked in the ice wilderness. They didn't want any part of those evil spirits. They went ashore and had a good time hunting and fishing for a few weeks, and then, as an alibi, filled the log full of tales of horrendous monsters, with shoals of devils and mermaids blocking their passage.

The king was reasonable. Naturally they couldn't be expected to buck anything like that. It is, of course, important that Admiral Byrd found out something about terrestrial magnetism, but Hendrik Hudson certainly would have taken the play away from him on the news story—or given Orson Welles a hot contest on a shilling-shocker radio broadcast.

Pitt Students May Protest Resignation Of Football Coach

By ED KIELY International News Service Writer

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—Repercussions were expected in two Pitt sections—the student body and the alumni—today following the resignation of Dr. John B. "Jack" Sutherland as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

As administrative officials quietly prepared to pick a successor to fill the wide gap left by Sutherland's departure, rumblings from student and alumni quarters, both of which were pro-Sutherland throughout the seething turmoil, were anticipated.

Although no definite plans had been made, International News Service was authoritatively informed that the student body was considering a general "walkout."

Students Dared "Tentatively scheduled for Wednesday morning," a student-leader on the campus disclosed, "the walkout" will be followed by a gigantic demonstration in honor of Jack.

"Yesterday the students seemed dazed, for to the majority the news came suddenly. They haven't had time to think or take action—yet."

It was understood that no concerted action was being planned by the alumni at this time, although it was regarded likely that some of the individual alumni clubs might voice some protest over the newest incident.

John M. Walker, newly-elected Republican state senator and Pitt graduate, last Friday threatened the university with a legislative investigation should Sutherland resign.

Speculate On Successor

There was much speculation as to who would succeed the immobile Scot. Both Sutherland and Chancellor John G. Bowman, in their conferences with the press, expressed hope that a Pitt alumnus would be selected.

Most prominently mentioned for the berth is Charley Bowser, who played at Pitt in 1920, '21 and '22. He was acting captain in 1922.

Versatile as he played quarterback, center and end, Bowser has had many years experience in the coaching field. He was head coach at Grove City college for four years, and then in 1927 returned to become first assistant under Sutherland, a post he held until 1929. He was head coach at Bowdoin in Maine until 1935, and then returned to Pitt. He resigned there in 1938.

At present he is an insurance salesman in Pittsburgh.

Another candidate believed among the first few, is Tommy Davies, one of the greatest Pitt halfbacks ever to don the mole skins. Davies also is an insurance agent in this city during the off-season and head football coach at the University of Scranton during the football months. Andy Gustafson, now assistant at Dartmouth, also has been mentioned.

Meantime, Sutherland himself declared that he hasn't started to look for a job as yet. "I have no definite plans about a coaching job and the Mississippi State offer is out," the resigning coach related.

Martin Resigns As Champs' Head

Man Who Led Bessemer Ball Team To Several Pennants Resigns Post

One of the most surprising pieces of baseball news came to the fore today with an announcement that Jim Martin, manager of Bessemer, Lawrence county baseball league, since 1930, has resigned.

Martin will be succeeded by Wilbur Stanley and Paul Nord who will co-operate in leading the champions after another pennant.

The Bessemer team captured several flags during the incumbency of Martin.

The reason for Martin's resignation was not stated.

Martin is the secretary of the Lawrence county league.

Leonard Wolfe will act as business manager and Taito Puomaki as secretary-treasurer.

Four Ball Tourney Reaches Semi-Finals

Guldahl Sinks 15-Foot Putt For Birdie On Extra Hole

(International News Service) CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 7.—Coral Gables' $5,000 international four-ball golf tournament reached the semi-finals today with the Ralph Guldahl-Sammy Snead team slated to take on the Tony Manero-Lawson Little combine, and the Horton Smith-Paul Runyan duo facing Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta.

Principal thrill of yesterday's second round was furnished by Guldahl, who sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie on the third extra hole to carry himself and Snead past Craig Wood and Bill Burke. Guldahl and Snead had been four down before they came on in the stretch to snatch the victory.

Another rally was staged by Smith and Runyan, who eliminated Denny Shute and Ben Hogan 1 up on Smith's eagle 3 on the final hole.

Sutherland Tells Why He Refuses New Post

(International News Service) STARKVILLE, Miss., March 7.—Dr. John B. "Jack" Sutherland turned down an offer to become head football coach at Mississippi State college because he "felt honor bound not to accept a coaching position" after resigning as gridiron mentor at the University of Pittsburgh.

This was the disclosure today of President D. G. Humphrey of Mississippi State, who said that Sutherland in a telephone conversation yesterday told him that circumstances had arisen in Pittsburgh which made it impossible for him to accept a post with the southern school.

"Because of circumstances that have developed at Pittsburgh after my resignation," Humphrey quoted Sutherland as saying, "I feel honor bound not to accept a coaching position as much as I would like to come to Mississippi State."

"Sutherland was satisfied with the terms of the proposal which we submitted," President Humphrey said, "and was hopeful that the way could be cleared for acceptance."

Both President Humphrey and Athletic Director C. R. Noble expressed deep regret that Sutherland had refused their offer. It was learned the college first had contacted Sutherland about three weeks ago and that the Pitt mentor's first reaction was favorable to the bid.

It was reported the offered contract called for annual salary of $13,500.

Three more fast games were played in the church league Monday night on the Y. M. C. A. hardwood. The First Baptist cagers, paced by Fraser, defeated the First M. E. quintet 32-26. Bibbs was the best bet for the losers, getting 10 markers. In one of the most exciting clashes of the season, the Mahoning M. E. passers scored a 28-24 triumph over the First Christians. Howard, Wilson and Blackwell were the mainstays for the winners while D. Thompson led the Christian scorers. The St. Pauls scored an easy 39-13 victory at the expense of the A. Z. A. club. Lang J. Binder and Shuster were outstanding for the Pauls while Fell was the big gun for the A. Z. A., getting nine points.

New Wilmington High In Semi-Final Clash

"Greyhounds" Face East Pittsburgh On Pitt Floor Tonight At 7:30 O'Clock

LOCAL CAGERS IN TIP-TOP CONDITION

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, March 7.—With high hopes of marching on to the championship round of the class B W. P. I. A. L. tournament, New Wilmington high school's plucky basketball team boarded a bus early this afternoon enroute to the Pitt university court where the Section 20 crown bearers will swish nets with East Pittsburgh high, Section 16, titlist, in a semi-final set to tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

In Tip-Top Shape The local troop of sphere handlers is in tip-top shape for the third appearance in the current tournament. Coach John Eagleson sent the "Greyhounds" through lengthy workouts on Westminster's hardwood Saturday and Monday. He has designed a special attack to cope with that of the East Smoky City cagers. Despite lack of time, Eagleson has endeavored to repair several flaws noticed in the past two clashes on the Pitt floor. Asked what he thought of the impending set to, one of the aces on the team said, "We're fighting mad for this one."

Relative to the starting lineup, Coach Eagleson said he will stand pat, using the same combination which eliminated the highly favored West Newton outfit. This means that "Lighthouse" Minner, the star of the tourney to date, will be stationed at one of the forward posts along with "Bob" Newton, a ball handling specialist. "Smiling" Jack Mercer, captain, will take over the center berth with "Bob" Shaffer and "Casey" Sharp again at the sentinel gaps. This group put on one of the finest displays of basketball seen at the Pitt stadium in some time. Trailing most of the clash, the "Greyhounds" finally ignited their fireworks-like attack and went on to cash in their second triumph of the tourney last week.

Needless to say, Minner, who has contributed 32 points towards the cause in the two fray, will again be a marked man. East Pittsburgh, realizing that halting Minner means half of the victory, has mapped out a special defense to stop him. New Wilmington earned the right to play East Pittsburgh by scoring an easy triumph over Apollo and then upsetting the West Newton clan, tourney favorite. The Section 16 titholders nosed out Legioner 32-30 and a 32-31 nerve breaker from Elma. Rice and Gebel are the big guns on the team. J. Stefanski, at center, is reported to be a tower of strength.

Team Has Following A championship feeling is quite predominant in the New Wilmington sector these days. For this reason, several hundreds fans will make the trip to Pittsburgh to cheer on the athletes who are giving New Wilmington one of its most successful basketball seasons in the history of the school.

The game will serve as a preliminary to the Butler-Ford City game. Principal Whitman today stated that unless local fans have tickets before getting to Pittsburgh, it is useless to make the trip. The biggest crowd of the season, well past 5,000, is expected to see the twin bill.

The lineup: N. Wilmington E. Pittsburgh Minner, f, F. Gregor Newton, f, C. Rice Mercer, c, C. J. Stefanski Sharp, g, G. K. Gebel Shaffer, g, G. Gebel

CHALLENGE ISSUED The Celtics of Smithfield street have issued a challenge to the Wesley M. E. church basketball team for a West Side junior championship series. For games with the Celtics call 1569-R or 4696-J.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Local sport tattle—The resignation of Dr. John "Bain" Sutherland, at Pitt, was aired apently along the main stem yesterday. The consensus of opinion was that Pitt athletics setup took a severe blow with the passing of the grid genius.

Quite a few localities will be cheering for New Wilmington tonight at Pitt stadium when the "Greyhounds" lineup against East Pittsburgh. There's plenty of chatter about the coming boxing show in Ellwood City Monday night. A star studded program has been arranged. The proceeds will benefit the Ellwood City hospital.

A contribution—I have been a daily reader of your column for sometime. After reading interesting notes regarding local basketball organizations and players, I think that you should make some mention of the New Castle Church League. This circuit has some fine teams, also some of the best players in the city. Two players who deserve recognition are Harold "Obe" O'Brien, of the league leading Epworths, and William "Pat" Patton, of the First Christians. O'Brien leads the league in scoring due to his ability to drop them in under the hoops. Patton is the best shot from back court that the league has had in sometime. In a game recently, he made two baskets in succession, shooting the entire length of the floor. I think this would interest many of your readers. Yours truly, John McWilliams, an ardent church league fan.

Baseball paragraph—For the first time in 17 years the New York Yankees are on the lookout for a first sacker. Bill Sayles, Boston Red Sox recruit, right hander from Little Rock, pitched for the American team which appeared in the Berlin Olympics in 1935. Charlie Grimm, who will broadcast the Chicago Cubs' home tussles, fancies the Cincinnati Reds for the National League title. Joseph McCarthy, midget of the New York Yankees, has lost 22 pounds. I doubt if worrying about the National League did that. Flash! Flash! The Phillies have chalked up their initial home of the year, a 450 feet smash by "Chuck" Klein. "Hank" Greenberg, reporting for his initial work-out, continued where he left off. He smashed a dozen apples over the walls. Some of his drives forced the outfielders to duck.

A bit of everything—Today's rib ticklers: "If that fat clown of Galento fights for the heavyweight championship this summer he'll hafta fight the champ. That'll be me," Jack Roper speaking folks. The Edmond Grads girls are regarded everywhere as queens of the basketball world. Tony Mattisi, a full fledged member of the professional wrestlers, is scoring quite a hit in Pittsburgh. The former Pitt grid ace won his first two affairs in impressive style. Although golf has long ago taken the place of hunting as the favorite hobby of major leaguers, not a single big league has been able to get anywhere in the big tourneys.

Odds and ends—Kid Chocolate fought 100 amateur bouts, winning all of them, 86 by the knockout route. Hank Greenberg, Tigers, hit two home runs in 11 home games last season. Jimmy Double X, of the Red Sox did it 10 times. Neither star was able to perform the trick on foreign fields. Man O'War, a three-year old in 1920, set five world records. Sonja Heinie, the movie queen, held the world's figure skating championship from 1927 to 1935 inclusive. Ty Cobb played in 531 more games than Babe Ruth but scored only 70 more runs than the Bambino.

GNCA BOARD TOLD 6,000 CITIZENS BACK MOVEMENT

Campaign Report Made; Now
Host Interested Directly,
Indirectly

Over 6,000 citizens of New Castle already have a direct or indirect financial interest in the Greater New Castle Association.

Directors' Meeting Lengthy
That was reported to the association's board of directors by Louis B. Round, general chairman of the G. N. C. A. campaign when the board held a five-hour meeting in the Castle last night. The session took up at 7:30 p. m. and continued until 12:30 a. m. President Norman E. Clark presided.

Round made his formal report as campaign chairman.

Outstanding in his summary were:

The fact that 65 percent of the subscribers took out $10 memberships, or subscribed 21 percent of the total pledged. The remaining 15 percent of the subscribers pledged the remaining 79 percent of the total.

Already the total pledged is $28,442. Of that amount, $8,449 has been paid in. There are a total of 806 subscribers and 6,000 persons are directly or indirectly involved through corporations, clubs or other groups.

Election About Due
Attorney William J. Caldwell was appointed chairman of the election arrangements committee of the organization. With him will serve Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, Loy H. Patterson and L. J. Lewis. Primary ballots will go out March 15 and are due back March 20. General election ballots will be mailed out March 25.

The board last night formally expressed its appreciation to Campaign Director Round and other campaign leaders.

Says Fireplaces Being Smuggled To United States

Famous English Works Of Art
Are Stolen From British Homes

(International News Service)
LONDON—Famous old Adam fireplaces are being stolen from London houses and smuggled to America.

That is the theory of Arthur Bolton, curator of Sir John Soane's museum, London and one of the greatest authorities on the work of the famous Adam brothers.

Bolton declared that it was impossible to estimate the number of genuine Adam fireplaces left in England, but owners of houses which did possess them should take the greatest of care and never allow the house to stand empty.

"It is absolutely essential that a caretaker should be engaged," he declared.

"This so-called band of persons, the 'Adams Gang,' who steal the valuable fireplaces, use all sorts of pretexts to enter a house while it is still inhabited in order to spy out fireplaces which may be worth taking.

"They soon find out when the house is standing empty, and then the fireplaces are dismantled and smuggled into America in small pieces so that they are not likely to be recognized," Bolton said.

Explains Science Of 'Poroscopy'

Philadelphian Finds Pores Of Skin Differs In All Individuals

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA — Philadelphia boasts one of the few expert "poroscopy" in the country in Harry J. Myers, 31-year-old consulting criminologist.

Poroscopy, explained Myers, is the science of detecting criminals through pores in their skin. It can be done, he insists, although learning differences in pores takes a lot of training.

"Pores differ in every individual," asserted Myers, "and are most numerous on the hand, forehead and soles of the feet. A burglar wearing gloves may touch his forehead to a window pane, or a gap in the gloves may leave imprints somewhere."

Pores have six standard shapes, so that identification begins with determination of its particular shape, explained the criminologist.

The number of pores on a single fingerprint ridge, for example, varies as much as the shape of ridges.

Most of Myers' consulting work comes from small-town police departments.

RECKLESS CAT FALLS INTO VAT

(International News Service)
BOSTON—"Mickie," a vain little kitty decided she needed an oil shampoo.

So "Mickie" made herself pretty in a tank of fuel oil.

The above ditty is a tale of a kitten named "Mickie," which fell unnoticed into a 1,000-gallon tank of crude fuel oil.

The reckless kitten paddled around for hours, before she was rescued by police, led to the tank by Henry Nickerson, 12, the tearful owner of the pet.

The officers fashioned a noose from a length of rope and lassoed "Mickie" by the neck, pulling her to safety.

DAN IN TROUBLE AGAIN

(International News Service)
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—They are not exactly hanging Danny Dever on the campus at University of New Mexico here but they did feed him in jail temporarily and he is the object of plenty of campus razzing.

Danny Dever, University student, is from Cairo, Ill.

He recently qualified for champion liar—so his razzers declare—by telling of the mosquitoes in his home town that laughed at steel bars put up to keep them out. The mosquitoes—Danny averred—just sent their young ones through the bars to open the doors.

This time Danny was jailed for whistling after 10 p. m. in violation of a city ordinance.

CHRISTMAS TREE NOTES BRING LOVE TO WOODCHOPPER

(International News Service)
BURLINGTON, Vt.—Kris Kringle has now appeared to have added matrimonial vows to his various Christmas excursions, according to the modern fairy tale recounted by two young Vermont woodcutters.

"We are tall, dark and handsome," each modestly wrote on a love note, they had attached to Christmas trees. They thoughtfully added names and addresses.

The first woman to answer described herself as pretty, romantic and 21. She sent her romance woodcutter a silk shirt.

The second young hopeful received a note, but alas! romance was not for him. The writer declared she had passed that stage, but was happier "because she was born in Vermont."

Australia has a Macrozamia tree which is estimated to be more than 12,000 years old.

TAXES AND LABOR CALLED BARRIERS

(International News Service)

DENVER, Colo.—Two of the greatest barriers in the path of permanent business and industrial recovery in this country are the high cost of taxes and the high cost of labor. Dr. A. H. D. Kaplan, distinguished economist of the University of Denver, told businessmen recently.

Speaking on "The Economic Outlook for 1939," D. Kaplan said that within the last 18 months business has experienced one of its sharpest declines, immediately followed by one of its fastest rebounds.

The return since the late spring of 1938, presents the fifth attempt at recovery since the low times of 1932-33, he said. Such attempts have been jumpy, restricted and of short duration.

Dr. Kaplan's answer is that what is needed, for full-fledged recovery that can absorb 10-million unemployed Americans is a healthy boom in the construction industries.

Too much sunlight is fatal to rats, due to the fact that nature does not provide them with a cooling apparatus. A rat cannot perspire, and its breathing rate is so high (about 150 times a minute) that it cannot be increased sufficiently.
